"The Return to Me Chicken-Egg Ritual"

The text says: This chicken-egg ritual can help anyone who wants a love, spouse, child or some other well loved person who has deserted or left home for some reason, to return. Like the other rituals described above, this ritual is easy to perform and effective as well. The instructions below show how the ritual can be carried out :

(1) Get :

3 fresh chicken eggs,

A teaspoon of table salt.

A piece of clothing (or a cutting from an item of clothing) that belongs to the departed person.

Wrap up the 3 chicken eggs and the teaspoonful of table salt in the piece of clothing.

(2) Whenever you like, take the wrapped up eggs and table salt and a digging tool, to anywhere that a footpath branches out into a fork, forming a sort of "Y" shape. With the digging tool, dig a hole at the point where the footpath branches into two - ie. - the spot or area where the two arms or branches join the trunk of the fork. The hole you dig should be sufficiently deep and wide to contain the wrapped up eggs and salt.

(3) Put the eggs and salt, still wrapped up, into the hole. Then mention the absent person's name 3 times continuously and proceed to state your wishes concerning the person; say the wishes once only and quietly to yourself. Then cover the hole and its contents with soil, endeavoring not to give any clue to anyone who subsequently passes by the spot that something lies buried there. Go away from that place, without looking back, for the ritual is then completed. Not long afterwards, the 3 eggs will break up on their own and the absent person will return to you soon after that. There is no need to repeat the ritual unless of course, you need to use if to force the return to you of another person.

Note that if the ritual is performed at night you need to take along a torch or flashlight or hand lamp.

End of Text.

The best time to do any rituals for reuniting lovers or for love or love rituals is on a Friday night between the NEW moon and the First Quarter of the moon. NEVER on a FULL moon. New moons are for constructive things and Full moons are for destructive things or destroying. Friday is the day (and night) ruled by Venus which governs Love and Saturday is the day of Saturn which governs endings and karmic lessons.

So do the egg ritual on a Friday Night between the NEW moon and the First Quarter and as late at night as possible. When spells are done in the late or early hours then they work better, because hopefully you will do them when the subject of your ritual (Your estranged partner in this case) is asleep in bed, and at that time he will be most receptive.

The best time to do any destructive spells like spells to split them up is on a Saturday night that falls just after a FULL moon.

This chicken-egg ritual can help anyone who wants a love, spouse, child or some other well loved person who has deserted or left home for some reason, to return. Like the other rituals described above, this ritual is easy to perform and effective as well.
